

Center For Popular Democracy

We work to create equity, opportunity and a dynamic democracy in partnership with high-impact base-building organizations, organizing alliances, and progressive unions. CPD strengthens our collective capacity to envision and win an innovative pro-worker, pro-immigrant, racial and economic justice agenda.

Emmanuel Caicedo (he, him, el)
State Campaigns Director

The Center for Popular Democracy (CPD) is a dynamic network of 53 affiliates across 34 states, Puerto Rico and Washington D.C. We build the power of communities to ensure this country embodies our vision of an inclusive, equitable society – where people of color, immigrants, working families, women, and LGBTQ communities thrive together, supported by a resilient economy and political institutions that reflect our priorities.

As CPD's State Campaigns Director, I advance state-level policy campaigns across our priority areas, with a focus on democracy and economic justice issues. I add staff and resources capacity to our affiliates across the country and coordinate internally to leverage CPD's research, legal and communication capacities towards state-level policy campaigns that advance racial justice and build power for and with Black and Brown communities.

ELECTION OUTCOMES

- CPD/A affiliates registered hundreds of thousands of voters and provided critical political education across the country.
- We targeted Black and Brown voters who otherwise might not have been reached.
- Our work in the states is a key part of what helped to stop the so-called “Red Wave”
- Right now, our affiliate New Georgia Project is busy doing the work and organizing for the very important upcoming runoff in that state.
- Our issues were winners at the polls.

WHAT'S NEXT

- Finishing strong and pushing the 117th U.S. Congress to do the people's will
- Raising the debt limit to protect Social Security and Medicare
- Immigrant Justice, and extending CTC and EITC
- Implementation of transformative federal legislation at the local and state levels
- Organizing around Federal Reserve and delivering worker justice
